

The End is Near!

October 2010 Newsletter Vol 2

MiniGP'ers,

Next weekend is the final points race of the 2010 season, Round 9. You need to make this one. Even if you have no interest in series championships, you still need to see how ridiculously close the racing has been this year. We have been having more fun than you can imagine. Spectators are always welcome and always free.

We will be running the beginner session during practice for all newcomers not interested in racing all the way up until lunchtime.

Upcoming Events: GP for Joey

The biggest event of our entire season is right around the corner. It's our final 4Hr endurance race and it's sure to be huge. We will be riding the Tempest circuit. We will have plenty of things for the whole family to do off track so make sure to bring everyone. More details will be coming shortly. Make sure you gather up a team ahead of time. We will not be there to match you up the morning of. Post up on the forum to see who needs a partner or just invite some friends to ride on your team. The rule structure stays the same. 4 man teams (minimum of 3) riding motorcycles that are F2 legal and below. That means there is a maximum of 65cc 2 stroke and 150cc AIR COOLED 4 stroke. Please try to stick to this rule, but most of all plan on having the time of your life.

Other Club Events:

Looks like PJ Jacobsen is hosting a great impromptu 4Hr Mini Endurance. His AMA dirt track mechanic was involved in a serious accident, thus the Rich Hanson 4hr Benefit Race is born. It will be held on October 31 between our Round 9 and final 4Hr at OVRP. This is a good opportunity to help out Rich and test and tune for our biggie. Rules are similar to ours. ### Cam's November 20th-21st event...

I was just thinking that some of my old friends might like to hang out. I was thinking of building a fire and roasting some wieners and marshmallows. Maybe drink some adult beverages around the fire. May tell a few stories.... Oh yeah, I want to do this at a race track in Dublin Ga. You game? I guess if we are gonna be at a track, we should race too. I will be bringing my
